

EARLIER VICTIM OF RAPIST GAVE TIP TO OFFICER

Peoria Girl Wrote Chief of Police Telling of Attack Year Ago

Peoria, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A 19-year-old girl's story of a brutal attack upon herself led to the solution of the Mildred Hallmark slaying and the arrest and conviction of Gerald Thompson, it was disclosed today.

The girl, whose name was held secret, was paid half of a reward of $1,841 offered in the case. The other half went to Henry Newman, a laundry engineer, who told police of an attack upon a daughter of a friend, allegedly made by Thompson.

Thompson was convicted by a jury of the murder of Miss Hallmark, whose body was found in a cemetery ditch early this summer, and was ordered to die in the electric chair. Date of execution has not been fixed, nor has Judge Joseph Daily ruled on defense motions for a new trial.

Was Offered Ride
Miss Hallmark, pretty 19-year-old cafeteria hostess, was offered a ride home by Thompson on the night of June 16 as she waited for a street car. Thompson instead drove her to a lonely section, choked her and attacked her, she confessed. The next day her nearly nude body was found.

Aroused citizens of Peoria joined in raising a fund for the arrest of the murderer. Under the direction of newspapers a total of $1,841 was contributed, including $100 from Governor Henry Horner.

The police had made little progress in their search when Fred Nussbaum, chief of police, received a letter from a girl. It read, in part:

Chief Received Letter
"About a year ago I met a fellow who gave me the name of Lee Bridges. We went out in his automobile."

The girl then described in detail a savage criminal attack upon her. Later, she said, a girl friend arranged a "blind date" for her.

"When my girl friend and the two fellows stopped at my house, I went out to the car. I took one look at the fellow I was supposed to go with and I said 'I'm not going.' I know this fellow. He did me wrong."

"My girl friend said, 'You don't know this fellow.' I said, 'I do too. That's Lee Bridges.' My girl friend said, 'No, that's Gerald Thompson.' They finally persuaded me to go with them and we went to a suburban dance hall. I stayed near the other couple all night and nothing wrong happened, but Lee Bridges and Gerald Thompson I know are the same person."

LICENSES COMPARED
While the police were investigating the girl's story Newman disclosed his account of the attack on his friend's daughter. The victim in that attack had managed to obtain the license number of her assailant's car, which corresponded to that of Thompson's.

After Thompson's arrest the girl who had written the letter signed a complaint against Thompson charging rape. The subsequent warrant was issued by State Attorney's officials to forestall habeas corpus proceedings and also aided the police said, in obtaining a full confession of the Hallmark murder.

Another reward of $500, offered by the city council for the apprehension of the slayer, is yet to be awarded.

Suspect Organized Anti-Farm Movement

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 9.—(AP)—St. Clair county authorities today investigated what they said might be an organized attempt to damage farm implements in Centerville township.

Last week a threshing machine owned by Henry Vogt was damaged by an iron bolt which was placed in a wheat shock. Officers said pieces of iron were found in wheat bundles on two other farms in the neighborhood.

No motive was learned.

Thousands Sign Pledge Cards to Vote and Work for the Defeat of Roosevelt and Horner Next Year

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Cook county Republicans today displayed 108,244 cards, signed by voters who pledged themselves to "work and vote" to oust President Roosevelt and Governor Horner of Illinois from office next year.

The pledges were turned in at a reorganization rally last night, which party workers termed the most enthusiastic Republican roundup here in the last six years.

It means we will take the New Dealers," said Fred Lundin, Republican leader, and principal speaker at the rally.

Cancel Jamboree

Washington, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Scout officials sought today to turn homeward hundreds of Scouts already enroute to their national jamboree, cancelled last night by President Roosevelt because of infantile paralysis in this area.

The jamboree, scheduled to be held on the shores of the Potomac here August 21-30, was called off after a presidential conference with public health, State and Scout leaders. The chief executive is nonorary national president of the Scouts.

Temporary encampments with accommodations for 3,500 Scouts had been completed and foreign contingents were already in the country or on the high seas when the cancellation was announced.

Linn C. Drake, executive of the Washington Boy Scouts, said the $300,000 lost by cancellation of the jamboree was fully covered by insurance.

TORSO KILLERS AWAIT TRIP TO WOMEN'S PRISON

Mrs. Dunkel Would Have Preferred Chair; Mrs. Smith Satisfied

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Blanche Dunkel and Mrs. Evelyn Smith, middle aged partners in crime, left the county jail at 1:15 P. M. (Central Standard time) today to begin 180 year terms in the Dwight reformatory.

The two women glanced back for a last look at the jail that housed them during their trial for the slaying of Edwin J. Lang, Mrs. Dunkel's son-in-law, before being whisked off in an automobile driven by Deputy Sheriff Kwiatkowski.

The convicted killers sat in the rear seat of the car, a portly jail matron—Mrs. Margaret O'Toole—before the motorcade started off, between them.

Chief Deputy Bailiff Edward N. Scholler disclosed that Mrs. Dunkel's niece, Olive Knutsen, appeared at the jail to ask that her aunt be permitted to sign personal insurance papers.

With the two women on their trip to the penitentiary went a letter from Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, relating their history, crime and trial.

REPUBLICANS IN GREAT RALLY AT STARVED ROCK PK.

Sen. Dickinson Says Issue In 1936 is One— "F. D. Roosevelt"

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Speaking at a Republican rally in Starved Rock park last night, State Senator William J. Lyons, Libertyville Republican, charged that Governor Henry Horner "stood on impeachable ground" as a result of his handling of the Illinois relief situation.

Horner, Lyons charged, deliberately withheld from the state legislature the Doering report, which recommended abolition of the relief commission in its present form, until after the law-makers had voted to continue the commission.

A crowd estimated at 10,000 by James E. Hill of Streator, chairman of the LaSalle county Republican central committee and in charge of the meeting, cheered Lyons' statements and applauded U. S. Senator L. J. Dickinson, Iowa Republican, who attacked the Democratic national administration.

One Issue in 1936
Referring to the Rhode Island election earlier this week, Dickinson told his hearers "30,000 voters deserted the Democratic camp to support the successful Republican congressional candidate."

The issues of the 1936 campaign, he said, had been rolled into one—"Franklin Delano Roosevelt." The President, he continued, had "repudiated his platform, committed the country to unsound monetary experiments, disrupted foreign trade and delayed recovery."

The six northern Illinois congressional districts comprising 33 counties, were well represented at the meeting, Hill said. Among those present were Frank L. Smith, Dwight, National Committeeman; Justus L. Johnson, Aurora, secretary of the Republican state committee and Justice Clyde E. Stone, Peoria, of the state Supreme Court.

CALLS ELECTION "FREAK"
Washington, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Re-election of President Roosevelt by "overwhelming" proportions despite any present day "slump" in the party's fortunes was predicted today by Rep. Drewry (D-Va.).

Drewry, who is chairman of the Democratic congressional campaign committee, based his prediction on 50 per cent returns from a confidential questionnaire sent the 319 Democrats in the house.

"Nine tenths of them report the popularity of the president and administration policies is standing up," the veteran Virginia politician said.

"And in certain rural areas Roosevelt is even stronger than in 1932," he went on.

Election of Charles Risk, a Republican, to a Rhode Island congressional seat was characterized by Drewry as a "freak" and not indicative of any national trend away from the Democratic persuasion.

Stock Market Has Good Up Movement
New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The stock market, as measured by price averages, surged up to new high levels for 1935 in the broadest advance since June 21 today.

Advances of $1 to $3 a share were registered throughout the list, and trading in the exchange aggregated 2,186,800 shares, the largest since May 28.

Among prominent issues, Union Pacific rose $3 to $101.75; General Motors more than $2 to $44.75; Chrysler about $2.50 to above $61; American Telephone as much to around $134.50; Sears Roebuck more than $2 to $59; Montgomery Ward nearly as much to above $36; General Electric nearly $1 to $30, and Bethlehem Steel $1 to above $36.50.

MacVeagh Breach of Promise Suit is Set
Chicago, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A breach of contract suit for $2,500 brought by Miss Louise Hagen, New York artist, against James MacVeagh will be tried in Municipal court on Sept. 9.

Chief Justice John J. Sonstebj set the date yesterday after unsuccessful efforts of Miss Hagen's attorney to bring the case to trial immediately.

Miss Hagen alleges MacVeagh, son of the secretary of the treasury under President Taft, is $2,500 in arrears on a contract by which she was to receive $250 a month for life. She charged in a deposition MacVeagh was the father of a child born to her in 1911.

Mrs. Chas. Krahenbuhl Passed Away at Noon
Mrs. Clara Krahenbuhl passed away at 11 o'clock this morning at her home, the Gehant place, on Lincoln Highway, east. Funeral arrangements had not been made this afternoon and will be announced later.

'GIN' MARRIAGE DISSOLVED BY CHICAGO JUDGE

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Expressing dissatisfaction with a lively court hearing in which Superior Judge Joseph B. David dissolved an alleged "gin" marriage, State's attorney Charles E. Mason of Lake county announced today he would ask a three fold investigation.

"Judge David made a circus of the court room," Mason told interviewers. "He played to the crowd. The Lake county officials, including myself, got a rotten deal."

Mason said he would ask the American Bar Association and the Chicago Bar Association to investigate the case, and would seek to have Attorney General Otto Kerner of Illinois set aside Judge David's annulment verdict.

The case was that of Christine Webb Marti, 22-year-old Chicagoan, who told the court she didn't like gin, but "just drink my whiskey straight." She had done too much of that, she said, when, she was surprised to learn the following day, she went through a marriage ceremony uniting her to Joseph Marti, a former prize fighter she had not met previously at Waukegan, Ill.

Married at Midnight
Judge David said he was compelled to grant annulment despite the fact the circumstances indicated the girl was not drunk, but because "the parties did not consummate the marriage as marriages are usually consummated."

The court's attack was largely against Justice of the Peace Henry Wallenwein of Waukegan and Lake County Clerk Lew A. Hendee. The judge demanded a reason for issuing licenses and performing marriages at midnight. Both explained they did it because the law said they could.

"I am not questioning the legality, but the decency of it," Judge David said. "X x x These monkey marriages and puppy love marriages are getting to be a national disgrace."

Brand New Story of Bill Hickok's Death
Deadwood, S. D., Aug. 9.—(AP)—It's "Rattlesnake Pete" Gust Robson's story, but it's a "brand new one" about how Jack McCall happened to kill Wild Bill Hickok, the two-gun Jassas Marshal who had quite a reputation as a killer in the early days of this country.

"Twas jealousy, that's what it was," said "Rattlesnake Pete," one of the long-haired horde of pseudo-historians brought to town by the Days of '76 celebration here.

"The boys were pals in the first place. 'Three fingered' Jim O'Brien, McCall's half brother, told me about it. But McCall wanted to make a name for himself with his six-gun and he figured he couldn't do it because of Wild Bill's reputation. So he shot Hickok one night at a poker table."

"Rattlesnake Pete said McCall hanged."

The slaying is re-enacted every evening during the celebration here.

BODY OF BOY IS RECOVERED FROM LINDBERGH PEAK
Monarch Lake, Colo., Aug. 9.—(AP)—From storm-whipped Lindbergh peak where he fell to death Tuesday, the broken body of William Brode, 15, son of a distinguished southern family, was borne down treacherous trails on a packhorse after dawn lighted the mountains today.

Weary searchers conquered storms and slippery trails and at the bottom of the peril-studded descent brought the boy's body to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julien Brode, of Memphis, Tenn.

The Brodes arrived just as Baker Armstrong, of Houston, Tex., discovered the sandy-haired, blue-eyed lad's body in a granite crevasse near the summit of the two-mile-high peak.

With the 50-hour quest among the crags ended, searchers lowered the body by ropes 1,000 feet from a perilous ledge to another and placed it on the packhorse.

Streak of Luck

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Somewhere in the Chicago district today a ragged little man who looked as though he didn't have a nickel in his pocket was counting $1,997.60.

He was one off our persons who held daily double tickets at the Lincoln Fields race track yesterday pairing Flight of Gold, a 6 to 1 shot, and Prom Girl, 40 to 1, the horses which won by a head in the second and third races.

The ragged little man refused to tell his name because, he said he was on relief and didn't want to be dropped. Mrs. Cleora Coleman, of Chicago, admitted she was one of the lucky four and Joe Allen, Cincinnati plunger, was reported to be another.

PROMOTION FOR W. J. SULLIVAN IS ANNOUNCED
Faithful and efficient service of William J. Sullivan, for the past eight years superintendent of the confectionery department of the Borden Co. here, has been rewarded by his promotion to the superintendency of the company's new plant at Newport, N. Y., it was announced today.

Mr. Sullivan will leave for his new position within a fortnight, and he will be succeeded here by W. E. Dickerson, for eight years head of the Borden's Confectionery department at its Wellsboro, Pa., plant. Mr. Dickerson is already in Dixon acquainting himself with conditions here, and will be joined by Mrs. Dickerson about Sept. 1.

During his residence in Dixon, Mr. Sullivan has been one of the city's active citizens, having taken an increasing interest in Dixon's welfare through his affiliation and cooperation with civic bodies and fraternal organizations.

'You're a Damn Liar' Says One Congressman to Fellow Solon
Washington, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A shouted "you're a damn liar" reverberated in the house today, but the words were withdrawn so quickly that calm was immediately restored. The assertion was by Representative Knutson (R-Minn.). It was directed at Representative Sisson (D-NY).

Knutson was gloating over what he called Rhode Island's first-district "repudiation of the New Deal, lock, stock and barrel," when Sisson interrupted to say the Minnesotan's speech "sounds like something I've read before."

"You're a damn liar," Knutson retorted heatedly.

Whereupon Representative Blanton (D-Tex.), who has had experience in such emergencies, demanded that Knutson's words be "taken down"—the preliminary to expunging them from the record.

"I withdraw those words, I withdraw those words," Knutson told the Speaker excitedly.

And so ended the incident.

Relief Rolls Down 2 Percent in July

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A decline of 6,172 families on the relief rolls in July, compared with June, was reported by Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, who attributed the 2.2 per cent drop to seasonal employment and improvement in industrial employment.

Families on relief in July totaled 277,075, while the June total was 283,247. Reynolds said the decline was general with Cook county reporting a two per cent drop and the rest of the state falling off 2.4 per cent.

Only two counties reported increases during July. Peoria county raising its total 20.3 per cent and Pulaski 27.3 per cent. Eight counties showed relief roll declines of 15 per cent or more in July. They were Greene, McDonough, Marshall, Mason, Monroe, Ogles, Pope and White.

TWO BODIES AND SINGLE MURDER BAFFLE POLICE

Nebraska Authorities are Puzzled Over Inexplicable Crime

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Nebraska authorities today wistfully recalled murder mysteries where no corpus delicti ever was found and pondered the latest mystery in which they have more bodies than they know how to explain.

Fred Frahm, serving a 10 year term in the Nebraska penitentiary in connection with the death of his brother, John, a wealthy Glendale, Ariz., oil operator, seven years ago, apparently had the key to the mysterious case which has had officers counting on their fingers for a week, but he told conflicting stories.

The case excited moderate attention until early in 1934, when a body, identified then as that of John Frahm, was dug up in Garden county. On the basis of that corpse Fred Frahm was convicted of manslaughter.

Map Locates Body.
Last week, after six months in prison, Fred Frahm drew a map and handed it to State Sheriff Fred Benton, Cheyenne county authorities, guided by the map, went to a deserted spot near Sidney, Neb., and dug up another corpse. Fred Frahm claims the body is that of John Frahm and maintains the other one was "planted evidence."

Fred Frahm told Benton and County Attorney P. J. Heaton of Cheyenne county several conflicting stories, then clamped his mouth shut and called for his lawyer, C. L. Baskins, of North Platte.

Baskins told his client he was lucky to have drawn only a 10 year sentence and went back home. Then Frahm issued a signed statement his brother had been killed by a hit and run motorist Nov. 9, 1928.

Claimed Revenge Move.
"Frahm told me he gave us the map to get even with Garden county authorities," Benton said. "He claimed they railroaded him to the pen on planted evidence."

Frahm is reasonably safe in his 10 year term because the double jeopardy provision forbids trying him again for slaying his brother. —wcf—

Consolidation of Recovery Gains is Noted in Dun Survey

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A consolidation of recovery gains was noted today by Dun & Bradstreet in the weekly review of trade.

"Recovery took a firmer grip on most divisions of trade during the week with the unusual mid-summer upturn expected to gain momentum until reinforced by the normal fall rise," it was stated.

"As retailers' stocks in most parts of the country have been depleted, buyers thronged wholesale markets in the largest numbers recorded at some centers in more than five years for the season."

"More comfortable temperatures resulted in wider increases being set down for retail sales, as industrial operations broadened and farmers' buying power expanded."

The gain for the country over 1934 was estimated at 12 to 40 per cent in the retail field.

In the manufacturing end of business, it was stated, "most industrial divisions extended previous gains during the week the rise in steel production and the higher schedules adopted by manufacturers of farm equipment, hardware, paints, and some of the textile branches offsetting the temporary slackening in the automotive industries."

First WRP Money is Received in State
Chicago, Aug. 9.—(AP)—The state today had its first allocation of federal funds for Works Progress Administration projects. A grant of $500,000 toward the $1,605,376 needed for 26 approved Illinois WPA projects was received yesterday. Ralph H. Murie, Illinois WPA deputy, announced.

Burke said that assignment of the fund might be made Monday. He called a meeting of state WPA officers to check plans for start of the projects.

Two Drowned When Part LaCrosse Bridge Fell
La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 9.—(AP)—One end of the municipal bridge, linking Wisconsin and Minnesota, collapsed today, plunging an automobile into the Mississippi river and causing the death of two occupants. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Landreau of La Crosse.

Fischer Blinn, 33, of Trempleau, Wis., and Miss Marceline Patro, 25, of Minneapolis, were rescued from the submerged car.

Horner Skeptical

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Governor Horner ordered an investigation today when he received a telephone call from a Chicago man who said his son drowned during the week-end on a "prairie" near Kankakee. The call came from Chas. Murphy, who wanted the governor to send a diver to recover the body.

Without further details, the governor indicated he was somewhat skeptical.

Horner sent orders to Chicago for an investigation to be made and, if advisable, for a diver to be furnished.

DEATH IN UPPER HOUSE FATE OF GUFFEY'S BILL?

House Democrats Learn of Its Possible Demise in Senate

Washington, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Senate Democratic leaders today promised House Ways and Means Committee chiefs that the Senate would consider the Guffey coal bill before adjournment if the House passed it.

While no guarantee of Senate approval was given, Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, gave the assurance to Chairman Doughton of the House committee.

If passed by the House, the bill would go to the Senate labor committee first.

Washington, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Confident of their ability to break the deadlock in the house ways and means committee, New Deal leaders today decided to get a definite promise of senate action on the Guffey coal bill before bringing it to the house floor.

After a secret meeting of ways and means committee Democrats this morning, Chairman Doughton smiled and agreed that he had hopes of getting the bill approved by a majority of the committee.

It was reported that he was assured 14 votes in the committee where only 13 would be needed to get the measure approved.

Final action was not taken by the Democrats, however, pending a conference by a sub-committee with Chairman Harrison of the Senate finance committee and Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader.

May Not Push Bill
Reports had reached the house that senate chiefs intended to let the session end without pressing the bill for action on the senate floor.

House leaders, contending the bill would put their members "on the spot" because of its controversial aspects, decided not to press it for house action if there was any intention in the senate to let it go over.

Today, the Democrats authorized Doughton to name a sub-committee to talk with Harrison and Robinson. Besides Doughton, the committee men Democrats, were: Samuel B. Hill of Washington and Cullen of New York, backers of the bill; and Cooper of Tennessee, an opponent.

Neater Showdown
Washington, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Another peaceful session of the senate-house conferees on the public utility holding company bill today brought them nearer to a showdown on the "death sentence" provision but consideration of this controversial point was deferred probably until next week.

An afternoon session of the conferees was called with a view to speeding up agreement on less controversial features of the bill in an effort to get a final compromise without deferring adjournment of congress.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), sponsor of the senate session providing for elimination of all but "first degree" holding companies by 1942.

UNION DEMAND STRIKE ON ALL WPA PROJECTS

Many Workers Walk Off Jobs in New York; It May Spread

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Launching a strike movement which threatens to encompass other large cities, union representatives today made flying visits to call 10,000 to 15,000 skilled workers away from Works Progress Administration jobs in protest against the government's security wage.

At the WPA administration offices it was said today that only about 700 workers were away from their jobs today. Union officials made no estimate. There are about 100,000 WPA employees, union and non-union, whose jobs are involved in the dispute.

A "sitting tight" policy was proclaimed by General Hugh S. Johnson, New York administrator of the WPA.

Laborers Enlisted.
He had been in communication with members of his organization at various projects, he said, and had been told of the action of union officials in enlisting laborers.

"I intend to sit tight and see what happens," he said.

Regarding the possibility of the strike spreading to other parts of the country, the former NRA head declared:

"Warning Ignored.
"Our people are going out to stop union men on the job. They will continue to do so until further notice."

The unionists protest that the security wage of $93.50 a month paid skilled workers would be seized upon by private employers as an excuse to lower wages.

Hopkins warned that those who walked away from their jobs would be speedily replaced, and that the strikers must look to city and state agencies for relief.

Plans to remove all union men from WPA projects were made at a meeting today of the executive committee representing the unions involved. Labor spokesmen predicted that many non-union workers would also quit their jobs.

Thomas Murray, chairman of the committee, and president of the Central Trades and Labor Council, said the strike would reach its peak next Monday.

Top Wage Attached.
The local security wage of $93.50 a month for skilled labor—top figure in the national WPA scale—imperils the prevailing hourly wage, leaders insisted.

"Nonsense," Johnson retorted. He addressed the delegates of the Building Trades Council yesterday and, hearing them reaffirm the strike vote, carried his plea for "an honest fight" against unemployment to the public over the radio last night.

A similar though smaller strike was called on a WPA project at the Philadelphia navy yard. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, predicted at Atlantic City, N. J., that the walkout would spread to Boston, Chicago, Kansas City, Cleveland, San Francisco and Seattle.

Pleads Guilty to Attack on Child; Gets Life in Ind. Prison
Frankfort, Ind., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Frank Nace, 50-year-old street department employee whose alleged attack on a 9-year-old girl brought a threat of mob violence here Tuesday night, received a life sentence when he pleaded guilty today. He was taken immediately to the Michigan City prison.

The child is recovering from the attack.

Stock Exchange Seat Prices are Mounting
New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—A New York S.C.T.O. Exchange membership changed hands today at $125,000, an advance of $11,000 from the previous sale and the highest price paid since May 2, 1934. On that date a membership was sold for $130,000.

Counsel for Fourteen Systems of Chain Stores Refuses to Answer Questions of Congress Committee
Washington, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Robert W. Lyons, counsel for several large chain store systems, continued today to refuse to answer questions about anti-legislative operations in various states and demanded that he be put under subpoena by a special House committee investigating "super-lobbies" and chain store practices.

Lyons, who said he represented 14 chains including the Woolworth, Kress and Kresge variety store systems, the Walgreen drug chain and J. C. Penney stores, interrupted the inquiry with a refusal, on advice of his counsel, to answer any more questions without being subpoenaed.

Promptly the papers were served on him, but he still declined to tell the committee who had represented him in Texas and New Mexico campaigns against state legislation affecting his clients.

He told the committee he considered it entirely ethical to hire local attorneys on a contingent basis and give them as much as $2,000 extra if they succeeded in bringing defeat of legislation discriminatory to chains.

He asserted he never had employed a member of any state legislature who was in office or spent any money for anything except counsel fees to defeat legislation.

RADIO MINDS

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

FATHER Ronald Knox, one of the wittiest men in England, has been telling us what the radio is doing to our minds. It is appalling if his description of it be taken for the truth.

At first, he says, we were thrilled by the miracle of the radio, and the wonder of listening in on the world seemed uncanny. But, alas, before we knew it our minds became mere receiving sets.

Too many voices were speaking, too many things were being said, that in our effort to hear everything and miss nothing our minds ceased to function. They became animated sounding-boards.

At first, he says, we were thrilled has developed into a disease. He calls it "broadcast-mindedness," which is spreading over the earth especially in America where the loud-speaker seems to rule.

All the world piles in upon us, pell mell, without discrimination or understanding. We have become victims of the mass mind, of crowd psychology. We accept mob opinion as revelation.

Today, he argues, the whole shape of political life and religious thought is being molded by mob opinion. It is well nigh impossible to strip our minds of all ideas not our own.

The man of today gets his knowledge—usually second-hand information from second-rate sources—either via the headlines of the paper on his table, or the loud-speaker in the corner of the room.

No wonder our mental make-up is befogged and befuddled, and we have less time as well as less ability to do any thinking on our own. The temptation is to take the line of least resistance.

When everybody is saying the same thing, repeating the same patter like parrots, nobody is doing any thinking. Cant and banality overwhelm us and we cannot recognize them for what they are.

Living under the "dominion of 'din,'" it is not strange that our minds become putty in the hands of propagandists. As we think so we are, but if we do not think at all—what will the end be?

Stralow-Fowler Wedding Wednesday

An arch of lavender and white flowers formed the improvised altar in the Morrison home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stralow, when their daughter, Martha, became the bride of Kenneth Fowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Fowler, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Rev. Herbert A. Magney, of Clinton, Ia., officiated at the single ring ceremony. The wedding procession was played by Mrs. Edward Wagenecht.

The bride wore an orchid dress with matching accessories and a corsage of mixed flowers. Her attendant, Miss Mabel Rosenow, was gowned in pink, with accessories to match, and wore a shoulder bouquet of mixed flowers. Frank Fowler attended the groom as best man.

The wedding luncheon was served afterwards at the home, to about seventy-five guests, and was in honor not only of the bridal couple, but also of the bride's grandfather, Louis Rosenow, Sr., who celebrated his birthday that day.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Loren Yarbrough, Pontiac, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler both attended Morrison school, and he is now employed at the Ice Cooling Appliance plant. They will make their home for the present with the bride's parents.

MRS. C. A. SHEFFIELD RETURNS FROM TRIP TO WEST

Mrs. C. A. Sheffield has returned home from a month's delightful trip through the scenery of the west. Going directly to the Black Hills she stopped there to visit all places of interest. She went by the way of Cheyenne and Salt Lake City to the picturesque Zion Canyon and went as far south as the north rim of Grand Canyon, which presents a most amazing view of this stupendous chasm, a distance of thirteen miles across.

After several days at Canyon, she returned by way of the west—back to Yellowstone. After sight-seeing there she boarded the train at Gardiner, returning by way of Minneapolis and Chicago.

It is thought that a full moon weakens radio signals.

Blackberry Pudding

1 1/2 cups berries

1-2 cup sugar

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1-4 teaspoon salt

3 tablespoons milk

Mix dry ingredients. Cut in fat and add milk. When stiff dough forms pat out and fit on top of berries. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven. Serve cold or warm.

Crust

1 cup flour

1-2 cup flour

1-2 teaspoon baking powder

1-3 teaspoon salt

3 tablespoons fat

2 tablespoons milk

Mix dry ingredients. Cut in fat and add milk. When stiff dough forms pat out and fit on top of berries. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven. Serve cold or warm.

Try to Erase Sad Things, Tragedies, From Child's Mind

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"One day we saw another car hit a dog," the lady told me. "Our little girl screamed, hid her face and got sick. It has since preyed on her mind. She has been so nervous when we go for a ride she won't even look out at the road."

Somewhat hardened to such sights ourselves, we are likely to think that children should not take matters so much to heart, either, and the way for this child's parents to look at it would be to let time take its course. After a while she will become inured to such unfortunate sights. In most cases, this is about all we can do, unless we build a high fence around the house and tell the children to stay inside.

But there are some children, boys, too, who brood beyond a normal period after such a mental shock. Dunsany related just such a case in his story, "The Prayer Wheel," in which a man, once having seen a mangled rat, could not get it out of his mind. He traveled the world over hunting charms to rid him of the horrible apparition that pursued him even in his sleep. He found a "prayer wheel" that seemed to dispel the specter as long as it whirled. When it stopped, back came the rat.

Pet Won't Rout Horror

As a matter of truth, many of us, if not all, have prayer wheels. Some hocus-pocus or other gets the obsession out of our minds for the minute. And, truthfully, some of our pet horrors would sound so foolish to others we shudder to tell what they are. Through them sometime or other we have suffered shock, whether we remember the exact occasion or not.

However, the child will forget the accident in time, very likely, and not be so overcome if it happens again. Her mother, worried because it hasn't been forgotten yet, thought that if they bought a dog, it might help.

I don't think so, not just now. She would add two and two and worry more about the new pet than she would get comfort. It would be better not to insist that she go for rides. She lives the in-

PARIS CREATIONS FORESHADOW REVIVAL OF ITALIAN RENAISSANCE FASHIONS

The shape of this black velvet panne hat designed by Molyneux will recall the American Civil War uniform caps. A chartreuse green pom-pom shows the new movement toward giving headgear an appearance of height, a feature that will be much in evidence this fall.

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Paris—It already is evident that coming fashions will be inspired by the Italian Renaissance here, which still draws thousands of people every day, and Renaissance art in general. And beside the Italian will be the oriental influence, a combination that forecasts one of the most picturesque winter seasons in a generation.

While women love to alter their appearance for hours of relaxation, they will not completely relinquish the simple, lithe and muscular figures acquired by so much effort and perseverance; so it is in the laps of the gods whether the sinuous, romantic women of Botticelli will be adopted as models of fashion in the various classes, announcement of which will be made in a few days.

The show of fall flowers will be open to the public at 2 o'clock each day, Friday and Saturday, and the exhibits may be viewed any time after that until 11 o'clock at night. It is proposed to have five or 10 minute talks at half hour intervals each evening by persons well versed in the culture of certain flowers and plants. Persons interested will be privileged to ask questions of the speakers.

Committees in charge of the details for the show are:

Scheduling of classes—Oscar Eklund, chairman, Albert Frank and James Galloway.

Exhibits—Carl Long, chairman, Karl Swartley, John Morgaridge, Andy Huber, Joe Hutton, William Rollo, Cliff John, Howard Stanley and U. R. DeVoe.

Commercial exhibits—Frank M. Stager, chairman, Otto F. Castendyck, Lyle B. Wilcox, W. F. Flock, and P. J. Peters.

Registration—W. A. Baus, chairman, Roy Shelly, Fred Jones, Robert Lundstrom and Lloyd Carolus.

Publicity—H. M. Weyrauch, chairman, Orville S. Storm, P. H. Ward, Robert Flock, George Brydia of Prophetstown and Dave Cain of Tampico.

Ladies of the Elks and American Legion, about 40 in number, will make calls to urge flower growers to arrange exhibits for the show.

Community Flower Show in Sterling To Be Held Aug. 30-31

Promotion of interest in flowers and flower gardens in Sterling, Rock Falls and the surrounding community is the aim of the members of the Elks and the American Legion and the ladies of the two orders, who are sponsoring the movement for a flower show in the Sterling municipal coliseum Friday and Saturday, Aug. 30 and 31. It is hoped that the flower growers of the community will show sufficient interest to warrant making it an annual affair. It is not a money-making affair, and no cash prizes will be given. Blue, red and white ribbons, however, will be awarded for the first, second and third best exhibits in each of

Fried Chicken Dinner Honors Birthdays

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Charles Whitebread delightfully entertained a number of guests at a fried chicken dinner as a happy birthday surprise for her two daughters whose birthdays come preference to the more voluptuous charms of the old Venetian school. It is certain, however, sumptuous velvets and brocades will be used in a profusion not seen in many years, with draped skirts, billowing sleeves and a wealth of rich embroideries very much to the fore.

Greeks Crash In, Too

It is also whispered that several of the outstanding designers are working on the theme of classical Greek draperies, avoiding, however, the extreme voluminousness which this idea instantly conjures up.

Hats, always ahead of any change verify the impending developments. At the Auteuil and Longchamp race courses, leading modistes showed a bewildering array of innovations, from high Persian bonnets and every possible version of the turban, to Henry the Fourth berets trimmed with jaunty quills, stuck at odd angles, and amusing ostrich tips.

Velvet combined with felt, fabric or other mediums will fashion the majority of hats for formal wear, and velour is scheduled for a successful comeback. Trimmings will advance to the front and contribute to the general impression of height on the high crowned hats as well as on the flatter shapes, because both types will be offered for women's approbation.

Color will be deep and rich—purples, violets, sumptuous reds, from cardinal to red copper, greens and blues will be featured in entire dresses and hats or combined with black, brown and green.

Colored Stockings Attain Vogue

There is an indication, too, that colored stockings will be worn. Even women who scoffed at wearing anything but beiges and nude shades have succumbed to the new ultra-fine navy stockings.

Maggy Rouff's idea of using colored hose to contrast with a plain-colored dress has found many followers. The smart shades are golden brown hose combined with white, pale green or violet with grey, and bordeaux with a certain shade of bright blue. Whatever the shade of the stockings, it should always be repeated in a trimming detail of the hat, scarf or belt, to achieve elegance.

One of the important color mediums noted recently has been the vivid shades of lip-stick and nail lacquer, which in some cases, provide the only contrast to a monotone dress.

Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, an attending physician, said plans for the operation were tentative. The growth was discovered recently while Madame Galli-Curci was in Japan during a concert tour around the world.

Grecian in inspiration, this Maggy Rouff creation is fashioned of supple silver lame and gives evidence of the formal sumptuousness that will characterize fall and winter evening clothes.

Pink taffeta and nude pink tulle were used by Marital and Armand for this romantic, historically inspired evening ensemble. The deep-point V effect at the waistline is a noteworthy touch.

Wenberg-Reid Wedding Friday

Oregon, Aug. 9—Miss Sylvia B. Wenberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Wenberg, became the bride of Frank L. Reid, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Reid, Friday, August 9 at 1 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. J. E. Dale, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church read the service before an altar of flowers, ferns and palms.

They were attended by Miss Margaret Reid, Oregon, sister of the groom, and Olaf J. Wegberg, Cleveland, O., brother of the bride.

The bride wore a floor length dress of pale blue chiffon and carried a bouquet of blue delphinium, lilies of the valley and briar cliffe roses.

The bridesmaid was attired in a floor length dress of pink organdy and her bouquet was of pink larkspur, forget-me-nots and white roses.

Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was given. Miss Margaret Sauer violinist and Miss Elizabeth Reed pianist, played Liehe-Straume by Liszt. Miss Bertha Thomas, contralto, with Miss Reid accompanist sang "I Promise You"—Ball; "Because"—D'Hardelot; and "I Love You Truly"—Carrie Jacobs Bond.

Miss Reed also played "Elsa's Wedding Procession" from Lohengrin.

Only the immediate members of the two families, Mrs. Elmer Kesseling, aunt of the groom of Woodstock, and Burnell Waggaman, fiancée of the bridesmaid, witnessed the ceremony, which was followed by a wedding dinner.

The bride graduated from Oregon high school with the class of 1931 and is employed at the Ogle County Abstract office.

JAPANESE FAIL TO GET AN AMERICAN JOKE

The latest "tempest in a teapot" to disturb international good-will is being brewed over a cartoon in a "smart" American magazine. It is a good illustration of how a little thing, unimportant in itself, may sometimes weigh heavily in the delicate relations on which depend the friendship of peoples.

The page of cartoons was based on an old wheeze, which every high school and college editor has used at one time or another pictures of the impossible or unlikely, used to emphasize the actual. This page, entitled, "Five highly unlikely historical situations by one who is sick of the same old headlines," showed Huey Long entering a monastery, Admiral Byrd wintering in Tahiti, J. P. Morgan delivering a soapbox oration against capitalism, W. R. Hearst becoming ambassador to Soviet Russia, and the Japanese emperor getting the Nobel peace prize.

It is a very old form of joke among comic artists, so threadbare in America that no one could possibly be shocked by it or even very much amused.

But the Japanese emperor, bemused and uniformed, is represented drawing a cart on which lies a ribboned scroll representing the Nobel prize.

It was not the implication that Emperor Hirohito is perhaps less peace-loving than a Quaker which drew Japanese resentment and brought Ambassador Saito rushing back to Washington from his vacation to handle Japanese protests.

It was the fact that Hirohito, believed by many of his subjects to be virtually a divinity, was shown at the menial task of pulling a cart. To pious Japanese, this is a gratuitous affront, not to the policies, but to the person, of the emperor.

Americans can not understand this at all. President Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt have been lampooned far worse by this same magazine. But they understand American humor and American political cartooning. They laughed wholeheartedly at such cartoons of themselves, and even asked to have the original drawings in some cases.

Japanese must try to understand two things in this connection:

First, that this artist, while attacking the public policy of the emperor, probably had not the slightest idea of affronting the emperor's person, and undoubtedly did not know he had done so until it was explained to him.

Second, that the American government has not and can not have any control over such cartoons.

It is hard to believe that any real harm will have been done by this frolicsome and, to the American point of view, quite innocent bit of satire. But it does show why peoples must try to understand better each other's point of view, and be tolerant of it.

TOURING COMPLICATES HOME SALES PROBLEM

They were discussing the housing problem—why more private builders haven't built new homes during the last few years, thus improving housing conditions and bringing jobs back to long-unemployed building craftsmen.

All the old considerations were threshed out, the high cost of building materials and labor, low wages, high cost of lots and financing charges, and all the rest of it. Then a very astute editor broke into the conversation. "I think the biggest factor in housing is not houses at all, but the automobile," he said.

He argued that a man with an average salary below $1500 a year could not afford payments on both a house and an automobile. And that today this average man, unable to have both, prefers the auto to the house. The manner in which automobile sales of 1935 have stood up all year long at the highest point in several years gives strength to this idea.

It would seem that men re-employed and men beginning to "get out of the red" have been buying automobiles first, but not houses. Perhaps the houses will come later, but it seems to be getting established that the auto now comes first.

For in these days you can live in the car most of the time. Many a man chooses inferior housing plus a car in preference to a more comfortable home without one.

This was not said critically, but in an honest effort to determine whether new influences may not be at work on the housing situation which is only in recent months beginning feebly to revive.

The days is past when the automobile was considered a luxury. Under present conditions of life, it may well be thought of as a necessity to most men. Therefore, it is no use to bewail the change in taste. If it is a fact, it must be faced.

And the American way to face the issue is to work for establishment of such conditions that a man need not choose between a decent home and an automobile. The American way is to work for such a condition that he may have both. That way prosperity lies.

THE TIMYMITES

Story by HAL COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

(READ THE STORY THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The trainer watched the Timies eat, and soon said, "Duncy's indiscreet. He's eating sandwiches too fast. He'll get a tummyache. 'I like to see tots have their fill, but it is best to wait until each bite digests before another great big bite you take.'"

"Oh, this is not his first bad day. Wee Duncy always acts that way," said Dotty, with a grin. "I'm glad that you have bawled him out."

Then Duncy snapped, "Why pick on me? Just look around and you will see a lot of other Timies just as bad, without a doubt."

This stilled the hungry bunch until one shouted, "Well, I've had my fill." "And so have I," another added. "Now we'll have some fun."

"Please tell us, Mister Trainer, what you have at this place that's so hot. If there is something near at hand, we'll go there on the run."

The trainer laughed aloud and said, "I'll bring the big treat here, instead. In my right hand, you see a whip that makes a real loud crack.

"I'll whip it through the air a bit and some strange beasts will soon hear it. If they come running, do not frighten them and chase them back."

"The first thing you are going to see is a beast as strange as it can be. The body is that of a horse, the head that of a hound."

"Now, all you Timies stand right back of me and hear my large whip crack. No other noise must fill the air, so please don't make a sound."

Of course the happy Timies did exactly as they had been bid. The trainer's whip cracked loudly, as it snapped from left to right.

The promised beast came into view. The next thing that the Timies knew, wee Dotty tried to pat it. She exclaimed, "My, what a sight!"

Continue Efforts to Get Fractional Coin

Washington, Aug. 9.—(AP)—After an informal poll of the house was declared to have indicated "overwhelming sentiment" against "overweighting" the treasury department officials and the Missouri state auditor have urged enactment of the legislation.

The survey results were announced by Representative Cannon (D-Mo.) before the house coinage committee heard additional testimony for the administration requested bill to authorize coins valued at less than one-cent to facilitate payment of state sales taxes.

C. M. Hester, assistant treasury general counsel, told the committee it was "highly desirable" that half cent and one mill coins be issued because 23 states and the city of New York had sales tax laws.

Representative Christianson (R-Minn.) said he believed there was no constitutional provision against states issuing "sales tax tokens."

Forest Smith, Missouri state auditor, said his state and some others would be unable to collect the sales tax unless congress "brings out new coins" or permits states to issue coins.

GOOD THOUGHTS

There is no action so slight, but it may be done to a great purpose, and enabled therefore nor is any purpose so great but that slight actions may help it, and may be so done as to help it much, most especially that chief of all purposes, the pleasing of God.

Ruskin

Take my life and let it be consecrated, Lord, to Thee. Take my moments and my days. Let them flow in ceaseless praise. Take my hands, and let them move. At the impulse of Thy love.

Take my every thought, to use In the way that Thou shalt choose. Take my love; O Lord, I pour At Thy feet its treasure store. I am Thine, and I will be Ever, only, all for Thee.

Frances Havergal

Most individuals have some object in life, their thoughts, words, and actions being motivated by some purpose. Some have noble purposes, while with others the object in life may be only that of getting a material living. If our hearts are set upon knowing more and more of God, if our purpose is to be always expressing His qualities, then our human difficulties will be straightened, and health and success will come naturally to us.

The Christian Science Monitor

Let the words of my mouth, and the meditations of my heart, be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength, and my redeemer.

FREE COAL

ONCE AGAIN THIS GREAT ANNUAL OPPORTUNITY with the genuine ESTATE HEATROLA

Every year, in August, Heatrola dealers all over the country make this generous offer to thrifty folks who place their orders early. Every year, thousands take advantage of it; insure delivery of the model they want—when they want it; receive as a gift a supply of coal (500 to 2000 lbs.,* depending upon the model selected).

*One-half these amounts if hard coal is furnished.

It's what's inside a heater that counts. Only the genuine Heatrola has the genuine saving Intensi-Fire Air Duct.

LOOK! The diagram shows the big reason why the genuine Heatrola gives MORE HEAT with LESS FUEL. The Intensi-Fire Air Duct spans the combustion chamber, blocks the escape of much of the heat which in ordinary heaters goes to waste—up the chimney.

LISTEN! It pays to buy the genuine Heatrola, for only the genuine has the Intensi-Fire Air Duct, the Ped-a-Lever Feed Door, and other exclusive fuel-saving, labor-saving features. It pays extra well to order it now, while the great annual Free Coal offer is in effect. Come in soon, see the handsome new 15th Anniversary models—a size for every home, a style for every taste, a price for every budget.

Only a small deposit now; regular payments do not start until your Heatrola is installed and the Free Coal is delivered.

Stories in STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

ONE of the few presidencies in South America that promised to continue unmolested by internal strife was that of Jeronimo Carrion of Ecuador. But his luck didn't last long. He crossed his "boss," politically powerful Gabriel Garcia Moreno, and had to resign.

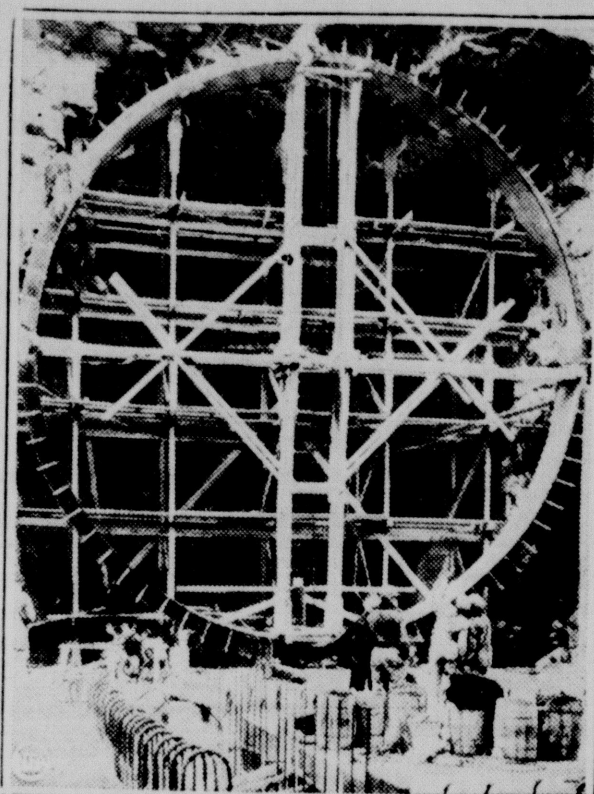

Carrion didn't do very much from the time he took office in August, 1905, up to his resignation two years later. But when he dared to join with Chile and Peru in a defensive alliance against Spain, and left politics generally to a friend who took advantage of his position and became highly unpopular, that was more than the Congress of Ecuador, and Moreno especially, could stand. Moreno, who had been president before, again took active part in Ecuador's affairs. He gained command of the troops and was on the verge of leading them in a revolt against Carrion when, on a vote of censure by Congress, the weakling president resigned.

One stamp of Ecuador, issued in 1915, shows a portrait of Carrion. It is one of a series of stamps issued in honor of the country's leaders.

$37,500,000 HUDSON RIVER TUNNEL LINKS NEW YORK WITH JERSEY IN RECORD TIME

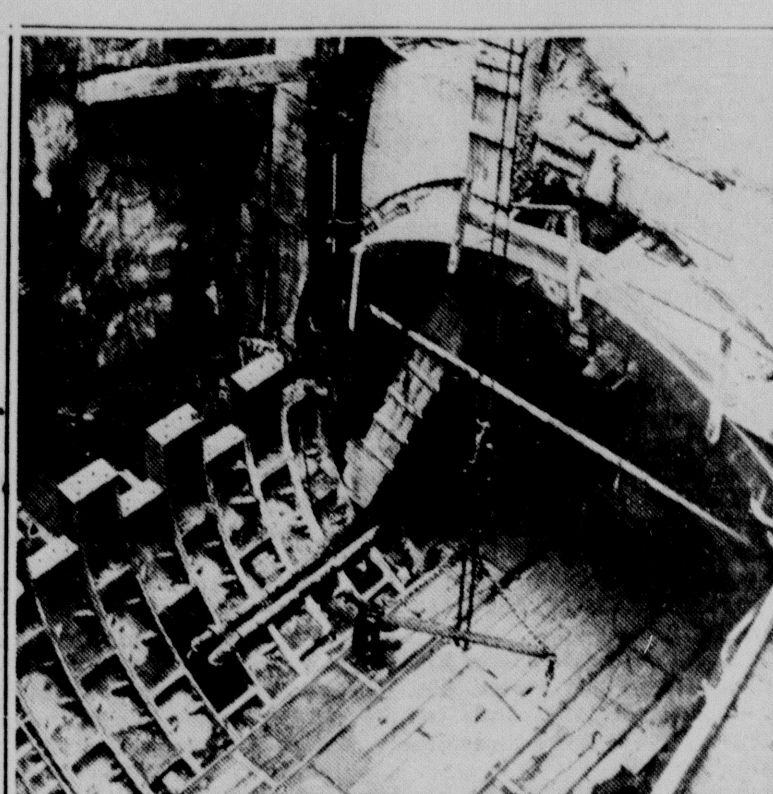

Relieve Manhattan's Traffic Congestion; Two Years' Seven Died Digging Tube for Vast Project Designed to Work Before Completion

Made possible by PWA funds, the tunnels will cost $37,500,000 when completed. Intended for vehicular traffic primarily, each of the two tubes will be 32 feet in diameter. Their immense size can be judged by comparing the workmen with the great steel circle being installed at the portal above. It will accommodate several cars abreast.

A mile and a third—7,000 feet—under the Hudson goes the newest link between New York and the mainland. Working under terrific pressure to keep back the Hudson river's water and quicksand, 8000 men dig the opening, then line the monster hole with steel rings. Here they tighten bolts on the rings.

This view down the ventilating shaft gives another vivid impression of the immensity of the project. On the temporary roadbed are two tracks for work cars. Here are brought the thousands of tons of excavated rock and mud to be hoisted by powerful cranes to the river bank high above. At the New Jersey terminus, a similar scene gives evidence that the tunnels are being dug from both ends simultaneously.

Four months ahead of schedule, after only 18 months' work, the actual "holing through" of the new link between New Jersey and New York was accomplished 102 feet below the surface of the river. Here is one of the first workmen to crawl through the opening. Although it now connects the two states, about two and one-half years will elapse before the first cars can make the journey. To date seven men have been killed on the project.

ITALY SHOCKED
BY CRACK-UP OF
SPECIAL PLANE

Seven Lives Lost When Specially Designed Airplane Crashed

Rome, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Italy, shocked by the destruction of one of its most modern airplanes and the death of Public Works Minister Luigi Razza, applied itself with undiminished zeal today toward perfection of its military power.

The disaster to the tri-motored craft which crashed on an Egyptian desert Wednesday night while on an inspection flight to Eritrea, killing seven persons, was viewed with particular concern since the plane was of the type designated for East African service.

The accident occurred just as plans were blossoming for establishment of a commercial airline linking Italy to its colonies. Pending the report of an official board of inquiry, no authoritative opinion was expressed as to the cause.

Aeronautical circles, however, contended the accident was the result of something other than defective material or construction, as asserting this type of plane had demonstrated its efficiency under the most exacting conditions.

Explorer a Victim
The death of Raimondo Franchetti, 46, in the accident deprived Italy of the services of an invaluable expert on East African geography. Franchetti, a noted explorer, had placed himself at the government's disposal for advice on African problems.

With the drawing near for extensive military maneuvers in north Italy, near the Brenner Pass, it was learned some Fascist militia units of approximately 500,000 men would be called out for the mock warfare and would not be demobilized afterward.

Instead, informed circles reported, they would be held under arms for additional training in preparation for action in the colonies.

BIDS OPENING FOR LOUIS-MAX
RING NATURAL

Soldier Field May Be Site of Heavyweight Bout

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs turned auctioneer today for a 10 day stand with one of the greatest fight card naturals since the era of the million dollar gates under his hammer.

Jacobs' prize article on the block was the Max Baer-Joe Louis fight, to be held September 26 or 27. The bidding was lively with sportsmen and promoters from New York and Chicago avowedly out to bring the fight to their city.

New York, represented by the Twentieth Century club, was a slight favorite although Chicago, led by the Sporting Club of Illinois, a new organization headed by several millionaires, still had a big chance. Jacobs said money would do the talking and that he would not accept either bid for 10 days.

"The club making the best offer will be given the match," Jacobs said. "Naturally, the managers of Baer and Louis will have something to say about picking the site, but the final decision rests with me."

A Bit Confusing.

It was a bit confusing as to which city the two managers, John Roxborough of the St. Louis faction and Ancil Hoffman, manager for Baer, preferred. Both told Chicago newspapermen they preferred Chicago with Soldier Field as the site, yet Hoffman left last night for Newark, N. J., to meet Baer and look over a probable camp site at Speculator, N. Y.

Joe Foley, promoter for the Illinois club, said negotiations already had been opened to obtain Soldier Field, site of the Jack Dempsey-Genie Tunney million dollar gate in 1927.

A cross gate of a half million dollars or more was forecast by Jacobs, who based his estimate on the receipts from Louis' last two fights against Primo Carnera and King Levinsky.

The downtown Levinsky advised Baer to strengthen his jaw as well as his hands before he climbs into the ring with the Brown Bomber. "Joe can hit harder than Max, and the Kingfish ought to know," he muttered. "If Baer takes my advice, he'll strengthen his jaw as well as his hands 'cause he's going to catch dynamite."

NOSTALGIA IS NOW APPARENT

Symptoms of "Go Home Fever" Among Senators are Seen

Washington, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Congress has a bad case of the "go home fever" which signifies to veteran members that it won't be long now.

Adjournment, some say, may come by the end of next week, or perhaps the week following. No definite date has been fixed, but many of those who know their congressmen say it's not far off.

On the other hand, some are still predicting the session will last several weeks. They point to a sizeable amount of legislation still awaiting action.

Signs of the nostalgic fever have been in evidence for a week, however. The mercury has risen perceptibly since the house passed the tax bill Monday.

Stop Talk and Work
Parliamentary physicians say the sure symptom of the fever is when the patient stops talking and goes to work. That's what he has been doing all this week.

Signs of the aggravated condition have been most apparent in the senate, which can talk longer when it's not in a hurry and act quicker when it is, than any other parliamentary body in the world.

Since Monday the senate has been passing bills almost without debate and patching up long standing conference disputes with the house as though they had agreed all the while.

Other signs of approaching adjournment are night sessions of committees, reviving talk of vacation plans, compromise arrangements for postponing troublesome issues until next session, and short tempers.

DAILY HEALTH

HEAT DISTURBANCES

There are three disturbances which are specifically the result of exposure to excessive heat. These are heat cramps, heat prostration and heat stroke.

The treatment of these conditions differs and save for emergency first-aid, requires expert administration. Certain preventive measures, however, apply uniformly to all of them.

The hazard arising from excessive temperatures may be counteracted by increased heat elimination, by avoidance of exposure to heat, and by the maintenance of the body in the best possible condition.

These preventive measures are particularly essential to those whose circulatory system (heart, lungs, arteries) and whose system of elimination (kidneys) are not perfectly normal.

One of the principal means the body utilizes for the elimination of heat is sweat. Therefore, when exposed to excessive heat, production and elimination of sweat should be favored.

This can be achieved by drinking large amounts of water, preferably taken in frequent, small doses. Carbonated drinks are preferable.

Since sweat carries with it a good deal of sodium chloride, the body supply of this substance should be replenished by the addition of common table salt to food and water. A level teaspoonful of salt should be added to each quart of water consumed.

Fruit juices are valuable in that they promote kidney elimination. Dousing the hair and head with cold water and frequent cool baths help to eliminate heat.

Muscular exertion engenders body heat. Consequently physical labor should be reduced to the minimum possible. When unavoidable, work preferably should be performed in short periods, with intervening periods of rest. Exposure to the direct rays of the sun should be avoided.

One should avoid alcoholic beverages during hot weather. Coffee, tea and tobacco also have an undesirable effect upon the heat-regulating mechanisms.

Tomorrow—Smoking's Effect on Circulation

In 1911 Congress appropriated $125,000 for aeronautics the first money to be voted specifically for this purpose. This came about as a result of Orville Wright's demonstration before President Taft three years earlier.

Capt. Lowell H. Smith, the last member of the 1924 round-the-world flight remaining in the Air Corps, is now in charge of the technical inspection of all the corps' aircraft.

At some of the major airports, transport pilots preparing to take off must receive their release over the radio instead of waiting for a green signal light from the field control tower.

Great Britain has undertaken a program to train 2500 Royal Air Force pilots and 20,000 ground technicians.

MILLIONS FOR PUBLIC WORKS AND BUILDINGS

That Department Will Be State's Biggest Spend-
er Next Biennium

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 9.—(AP)—The biggest spender in the state government, figured on sums allotted by the general assembly for the current biennium, will be the Department of Public Works and Buildings which is to receive $110,785,550 of the $388,999,244 appropriated.

This department, headed by Robert Kingery of Winnetka, has charge of road construction and maintenance, parks, waterways, flood control, state highway police, waterways, building construction and many other phases of the state's activities.

Much of the $110,785,550 appropriated to this department can not be spent, however, unless the state obtains it from the federal government. The chief example of this is a $67,930,000 appropriation—more than half of the total made to this department—for highway construction.

Additional Appropriation
This $67,930,000 is in addition to the other road appropriations which will be paid out of receipts from auto licenses and motor fuel taxes and is predicated entirely on the assumption that it will be forthcoming from the federal treasury.

Road construction and maintenance appropriations made to the department out of state-collected gasoline taxes and license fees total $34,900,000. In addition to this the department was allotted $3,000,000 to make refunds to counties and municipalities for road construction and was given $2,500,000 for maintaining the state police force.

Appropriated to it was $1,000,000 for the construction of an arsenal at Springfield to replace the one destroyed by fire. It also has the spending of the $500,000 set aside for the construction of an archives building.

Maintaining and improving the 25 state parks and memorials, including the Lincoln tomb and home at Springfield, will cost nearly $300,000.

$25,000 For Monument
Architectural and engineering work, which the department does not only for itself but for most other agencies of state government, was placed at $227,300 by the assembly for the biennium. General office expense was placed at $156,000 and $25,000 was appropriated to erect a monument at Carrollton to the late Speaker Henry T. Rainey.

The legislature set aside $517,500 for the department to spend on waterways, $500,000 for flood relief and a number of smaller sums for specific building or improved projects of various kinds.

While technicalities require the appropriation of money for interest and retirement of bonds to the state treasurer, $20,358,480 of the $37,281,548 set aside for that purpose in the current biennium is for payment of interest and principal on road and waterway bonds—construction done in former years by the Department of Public Works and Buildings.

If all federal monies for road construction anticipated are forthcoming, so that the department will actually have $110,785,550 to spend and the $20,358,480 set aside for road and waterway bond retirement is added the total for public works and buildings will reach $130,000,000—far more than any other single agency of state government has to spend out of the $388,999,244 appropriated by the general assembly for the two year period ending July 1, 1937.

WHAT THE NEWS WAS AROUND DIXON IN YEARS GONE BY

50 YEARS AGO

A stranger, C. H. Martin, reported having his pockets picked while he was sleeping on the platform at the Northwestern depot and about $20 and other articles taken; the thieves also taking possession of his new hat.

Eighteen carloads of tea from China passed through Dixon over the Northwestern this morning going to the east.

25 YEARS AGO

Miss Lucile Baldwin of Lena was rescued from Rock River at the Assembly park beach yesterday afternoon by Prof. John Fee of Fresno, Cal., instructor of the Boy's club at the park.

Two barns belonging to Mrs. Mary Coakley and George Atkins on Hennepin avenue were destroyed by fire last evening.

10 YEARS AGO

Mrs. John W. Smith passed away at her home, 721 Center avenue yesterday afternoon.

Thomas F. Drew, resident of Dixon for more than 75 years died at his home, 503 Spruce street this morning.

Charles C. Godfrey, pioneer resident of Dixon passed away at his home, 612 Peoria avenue today.

Alexander F. Kuhn, superintendent of the American Cab & Body company, died at the Dixon public hospital yesterday afternoon.

Conducted by Rev. F. L. Austin, former pastor at Oregon now pastor at Grand Rapids, Mich.

A memorial service for Mrs. Mary A. Woodward whose death occurred last week will be held at 2:30 P. M. in charge of Rev. G. E. Marsh, assisted by other ministers.

The evening sermon preceded by a musical service at 7:30 will be delivered by Rev. L. E. Conner of Dixon.

YANKS BOUGHT BLONDY RYAN; INSPIRATION

McCarthy Wants Him
To "Talk Yanks"
Into Pennant

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Back on the big time again, Blondy Ryan is getting his vocal chords in shape to root the New York Yankees out of the baseball doldrums and into the American league pennant.

Blondy is the boy who literally talked the Giants into the 1933 world series. He went around shouting "They can't beat us" so often and so loudly that the other Giants finally came to believe it. They snapped out of it and won the pennant.

Blondy talked himself hoarse in 1934, but the deck was stacked against the Giants and Bill Terry sent him down the river to Philadelphia in part payment for Dick Bartell. Even Blondy admits there was little about the Phillies to inspire cheers.

He yelled his head off at the start, but the hapless Phils got no better rapidly and soon the famous Ryan war-songs, as well as his batting average, went into almost total eclipse.

Jimmy Wilson exiled him to the International league. Instead, Blondy packed up and went home. Joe McCarthy heard about it, recalling what the two-headed Irishman had done for the Giants. McCarthy figured it might be worth $7500 to see if he couldn't talk the skidding Yankees back into winning form. So he bought him for the waiver price.

1936 AUTO PLATES

Springfield, Ill.—Secretary of State Edward Hughes announced that a contract for 1936 motor vehicle plates was awarded to the C. H. Hanson Co. of Chicago. He said the plates would be white figures on a black background, with "Illinois 1936" below the numerals. He said about 1,300,000 passenger and 200,000 truck, trailer and motorcycle plates were ordered.

FIREWORKS ARE PROMISED FOR SEMI-FINALS

Cleveland, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Plenty of potential fireworks was on tap today in the meeting of four semi-finalists in the Women's Western Golf tourney.

Miss Margaret Russell, Detroit co-ed, was paired with Miss Marion Milley of Lexington, Ky., Trans-Mississippi champion, in one fray while Miss Marion Leachman of San Francisco and Mrs. D. T. Atwood of Chicago were paired in the other.

Miss Leachman was favored to take the latter match, after her 4 and 3 victory over Miss Eva Shorb of Massillon, O., yesterday, although Mrs. Atwood took an 8 to 6 decision over Miss Barbara Thompson of Los Altos, Calif. Miss Shorb had been regarded as one of the title threats in the tourney after her stellar play in the early rounds.

The Russell-Milley event was regarded as a toss-up, with any edge going to the latter because of her greater tournament experience. Both play the same style of game, each being long from the tee, fine putters, and with a sound iron game.

FOOLHARDY WAGER
Chicago—Walter Wade, 22, was missing 10 days after he told his wife he was going to "swim the lake" for a $7 bet at 25 to 1 odds. Wade's clothes were found in a south side beach locker.

Purchasers of early rifles were given a small mallet free. The mallet was used to drive the shot into the barrel.

DAVIS CUPPERS MEET, EASTERN CHAMPIONSHIP

Winner of the Shields
Wood Match May
Win the Title

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Two heroes of former Davis Cup days, big Frank Shields and slender Sidney B. Wood, found each other stumbling blocks today in the Eastern grass courts tennis championships.

Shields, on vacation from the film studios of Hollywood, and Wood, fresh from Europe where lack of confidence kept him out of the Davis Cup debacle, opposed each other in the semi-final round of the men's singles.

The winner was favored to win the title.

In the other bracket were paired a couple of possible Davis Cup hopes, Frankie Parker of Springfield, N. J., and Wee Bitzy Grant of Atlanta, national clay courts champion.

Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., top seeded and nationally ranked at No. 4, and Katherine Winthrop of Boston, seeded fourth, were unexpected losers yesterday in the women's play that brought Mrs. Mary Greaf Harris of Kansas City and Mrs. Agnes Lamme of Rye, N. Y., into the final round to be played Saturday.

Mrs. Harris beat Mrs. Andrus 5-7, 6-3, 6-3, and Mrs. Lamme eliminated Miss Winthrop, 6-2, 6-2.

A caged rat ran 5447 miles inside the wheel of his cage in less than three years.

WIGHTMAN CUP SERIES WILL BE DECISIVE

New York, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Faced with a bitter struggle to retain the Wightman Cup without the services of Helen Wills Moody, the United States has drawn up its strongest available forces for defense of the International women's tennis trophy against the British at Forest Hills August 16 and 17.

Representing the home forces will be Helen Jacobs, three times national champion who lost a bitter, sensational final to Mrs. Moody at Wimbledon; Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass.; Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles; Conn. Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold of San Francisco; and Mrs. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, donor of the cup the United States defended successfully in England last year for the fourth straight time, will be non-playing captain.

Elderly Hiker Gave Friendly Woman New York Check for $1000

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Carl J. Riefler today was awaiting word from a New York City bank on the value of a $1,000 check given her by an elderly hiker.

Mrs. Riefler saw the man passing her home and thought he appeared tired. She invited him to sit in the shade and have a cool drink of water. Apparently surprised but pleased at the courtesy, the traveler accepted.

When he left he thrust a piece of brown wrapping paper in her hands. On the paper was drawn a check for $1,000 on a New York bank, signed with the man's name and address. A short time later Mrs. Riefler hurried away in her car in search of the stranger. Finally she found him but he refused to take back the check, urging her to cash it.

Her banker sent the check with a letter of inquiry to the bank on which the check was drawn, seeking to determine if the paper was negotiable. She refused to divulge the man's name.

JUNIOR SINGLES NET TITLE SEEMS GOLDEN STATE'S

Culver, Ind., Aug. 9.—(AP)—The National Junior singles tennis championship today appeared California bound for the third straight year.

As the struggle for the title, vacated by Gene Mako, entered the semi-finals on the Culver courts, three of the four survivors were Californians. Joe Hunt, and Bob Riggs of Los Angeles and Robert Harman of Oakland. The fourth was a Floridian, Frank Guernsey of Orlando. At least one Californian was sure to reach the finals as Harman faced Hunt today.

Play in the boys' singles ran so true to form that the four top seeded stars entered the semi-finals of that division. They were Isadore Bellis, Philadelphia; Seymour Greenberg, Chicago; Joseph Fishback, New York, and Richard Hainline of Rock Island, Ill. In today's semi-finals, Greenberg meets Fishback and Bellis clashes with Hainline. Greenberg and Hainline also entered the finals of the boys' doubles, playing far ahead of the rival bracket, by defeating Belles and Harper Ink of San Diego, 6-0, 7-5.

WISCONSIN LAW GIVES COUNTIES CHANCE AT TAX

Madison, Wis., Aug. 9.—Wisconsin's 71 counties have been authorized by the legislature to try an experiment which, if successful, may lure about $60,000,000 of delinquent property tax money into county coffers.

Real estate taxes in this amount have been standing unpaid on books since 1931, accumulating interest and penalty charges, and counties have been "holding the bag" because there were no private bidders to invest in tax certificates. The legislative formula, signed into law by Governor Philip F. La Follette, is an act permitting counties to waive interest charges and penalties provided the taxpayer makes a settlement of the principal by October 1, 1936.

County boards will have to meet in formal session to take advantage of the act, but they will have more than a year to do so, and if they act promptly taxpayers will have time to scrape up needed funds. However, any county board which believes it will be able to collect delinquencies without remitting penalties, may do as it chooses.

In many cases, officials of the tax commission say, interest charges have piled up to about one-third of the principal, and have acted to deter settlements.

YEARLING SALE MAKES OWNER $152,050 RICHER

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 9.—(AP)—Col. Edgar R. Bradley, owner of the Idle Hour Farm in Lexington, Ky., was $152,050 richer today through the sale of a crack brand of 31 yearlings, but $20,000 of that amount may have gone from one pocket to the other.

The highest price of the sales so far, $20,000 for a big handsome colt by Blue Larkspur-Imp Knockaway, was paid last night by Geo. Read of New York, amid the keenest bidding before the biggest crowd of the season.

Read acted for an unidentified bidder. It was thought that Bradley, liking the looks of the strapping colt as much as everyone else, probably was the person Read represented.

In all, 48 youngsters were sold for $159,650, averaging $3,326 each. Bradley's yearlings brought an average of $4,905.

Bing Crosby, motion picture star, bought a bay colt by Black Servant-Bessie Acolt for $1,600 and a filly by Bubbling Over-Buoyant for $300.

Dale Alexander, Star of Assn., Hit in Head Has Fractured Skull

Kansas City, Aug. 9.—(AP)—Physicians said today Dale Alexander, first baseman of the Kansas City American Association baseball club, suffered a fractured skull when he was hit by a pitched ball in a game with Toledo here last night. His condition was said to be critical after X-rays were examined.

Alexander, batting star of the Kansas City team and former member of the Detroit American League club, was felled by a ball thrown by pitcher Grant Bowler in the seventh inning of the first game of a doubleheader.

Great Lakes Sail Boat Races Will Continue Today

Vermilion, O., Aug. 9.—(AP)—The Great Lakes championship sail boat races continued from Vermilion Harbor today, with Ed Knevals of Detroit, defending champion in the star boat class, off to a flying start.

Eight star boats representing the four international districts are competing. Knevals won the first event yesterday in his Fleet Star II. Following him, in order were: Bert Williams' Bee, of Chicago; Phil Upton's Iris of St. Joseph; and the Teddy of Toledo.

SUN-TAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JO DARREN breaks her engagement to HRET PAUL, college athlete star, because Hret objects to taking a job as hostess at Crest Lake Inn, fashionable summer resort, owned by wealthy DOLLY MARSH.

Jo goes to Crest Lake. Marsh's eccentric mother dislikes her and causes difficulties. There are increased when PETER FRAGONET film actor, arrives. Fragonet pays marked attention to Jo, who is sure to marry him as soon as he can secure a divorce.

Hret Paul comes to Crest Lake as life guard. HANS MONTGOMERY school acquaintance who is jealous of Jo, is also there.

Fragonet leaves and returns when his film company undertakes to make part of a motion picture at the resort. Jo is determined to return to Hollywood with him. She delays her decision.

Jo meets LOUIS MONTZ, actress and they become friends.

NOW ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIX

TRUE to Fragonet's prediction Drann scheduled the "big scene" for the following day. Tennis and badminton courts, the riding path, and even the bathing beach were empty for all the Crest Lake guests crowded the shore of the lake in sight of the movie activities.

For the past several days Drann's carpenters had been erecting a long platform out from shore and mounting on this the sound and microphone equipment. Like most motion picture parties on location, Drann and his outfit had been madly busy retreating about just what was going to happen. But rumor had it that this was to be an important day in the making of the picture. The truth was that today's scene would be only an incident in the completed film, and that the real "big scene"—a forest fire—would be filmed in the privacy and safety of the Atlas studios in Hollywood. Nevertheless, this knowledge, leaking out from minor members of Drann's crew did not slacken the interest of the people at Crest Lake. And, just as Douglas Marsh had said they would, old Mr. and Mrs. Bowen, the proprietors of Lone Tree Tavern, drove up in their rattletrap car to see the fun.

Hurried by Tubby, Jo Darlen was at the lake with the others when Drann assembled his company during the middle of the morning. On the way out of the inn they encountered Hret Paul. He looked at Jo uncertainly but she smiled her most impersonal smile and joined Tubby's instant "Good morning!"

"Going down to see how movies are made?" Tubby asked him.

Bret nodded. "Drann told me he wanted me around."

"Gosh," breathed Tubby. "Looks as if he thinks maybe somebody might crown!"

The life guard laughed. "It's not that. He said I might have to do some doubling."

He and Tubby carried on an aimless, self-conscious conversation half way down to the lake shore, and then fell silent in the presence of Jo's obvious frigidity. Luckily when they merged with the crowd at the lake there was no need for further talk. Drann was already under way, shouting orders from one of the motorboats in which a camera was mounted.

FRAGONET, glimping Jo, came toward them smiling. Today he seemed nervous and ill at ease, and was astonished at the contrast with the usual manner.

"This thing today is nonsense," he said. "It's the sort of thing that could be done in the studio."

but Drann's one of these bounds for realism. Wants to get the background in, he says." Fragonet lit a cigarette swiftly. "Old-fashioned directing, is what I'd call it."

"He could have picked a warmer day," said Bret, his voice filled with dislike for the actor. "That water will be pretty chilly this morning, won't it?"

If Fragonet caught the faint in silence he gave no sign of it. In fact, he seemed hardly to have heard Bret at all. "What was that?" he said, looking at the younger man. "Oh yes. Chilly. Yes, it's likely to be."

"Is this the scene where you save Miss Montez?" asked Tubby breathlessly.

Fragonet nodded. "Yes, and she really doesn't swim a stroke. I'm worried about that. Drann hasn't a damned bit of sense. He almost let a woman drown one time, in sitting on his realism. And, another time in a mine scene."

He was interrupted by the powerful voice of Drann, bawling out over the water from the motorboat. "Fragonet! . . . Out on the platform here, please."

Fragonet smiled at Jo. "Sorry I have to get to work."

He trotted down to the lake and out to the edge of the platform. Drann came alongside in the motorboat, and Fragonet knelt on the boards while the director talked and gesticulated. In another moment Lolita Montez, still in her riding breeches, joined Fragonet on the platform. Presently Drann helped her into the boat.

He motioned again to Fragonet, but the actor appeared to be arguing angrily, and Drann's gesticulations grew wide and sweeping. "Looks like they don't agree about something," giggled Tubby excitedly.

"Probably Drann wants to get Fragonet wet," Bret Paul told her. Jo's face flushed at the remark. "Perhaps you aren't aware that Mr. Fragonet's a very good swimmer, Bret."

"Perhaps not," he replied. "But you should be."

She turned. "I don't see—"

But just then Drann stood up in the boat and yelled angrily. "I want that life guard. Where is he?"

REDDENING to the roots of his tow hair, Bret pushed away from Tubby and Jo and down through the crowd. In his excitement, Drann had leaped from the speedboat to the platform and was walking forward to meet Bret.

"Would you mind coming along in the boat with me?" he asked.

Bret shook his head and joined the stocky director. On the platform the three talked a moment, while Lolita Montez and the cameraman lolled in the boat, wordless, and smoked cigarettes. Then, suddenly throwing his arms in the air, Drann climbed back into the runabout and helped Bret Paul in after him.

"Wish I knew what this was all about," muttered Tubby. "I suppose we'll have to wait to see the picture."

"Not at all," said a voice behind them, and they turned to see Douglas Marsh.

"I'll tell you," he smiled. "In the picture Miss Montez is supposed to fall from a fairly high bluff, and Drann wants a close-up shot as she hits the water. I heard him telling her about it this morning. He wants her to go down."

man with his life under perfect control, the man of clean thoughts and habits. It was demonstrated long ago, as in every age, that the temperate man has a far better chance for life and effectiveness than the man who is indulgent in drink, food, or any other bodily ailment or pleasure.

Recently a man of distinguished national position found occasion to contrast two pictures of his college days, which he had discovered 50 years after graduation.

One picture was of a group of 12 students, all of whom were total abstainers. In the other group were 11, none of whom were abstainers, some drank to excess, others in moderation.

The distinguished man did not presume to draw conclusions too rapidly from the evidence, but he called attention to the fact that out of the first group eight were still living, and most of them were still going strong.

Of the other group there is not a single one living today. Seven had died before 40 years had passed and none survived to attend the 50th anniversary of his class.

In our country today there is a profound need for considering such elemental contrasts, just as there is profound need for developing the spirit that dares to decline to do something harmful to oneself or others just because others are doing it.

A race of Daniels would be a race of men strong, steadfast, and equal in any emergency. In the Daniel spirit we could not only solve all our problems, but we could build here in America a nation of supermen.

Guests at a California hotel were bothered by the croaking of bullfrogs at night. The hotel manager rigged up a powerful searchlight system, bathed the nearby pool with light and the frogs stopped their nocturnal music.

and then drift up—as she would if she'd fallen that way."

"But she can't swim!" exclaimed Jo.

"That's why Drann called Bret. I imagine. She can hold her breath, strike the water and then come up. They'll pull her in, then."

"But where," asked Tubby, "does Fragonet come in?"

"They'll get that scene later. As he brings her along, Drann wants to follow in the boat."

Now the speedboat was bearing off from the platform toward the swimfloat with its diving tower. Here it stopped long enough to allow Montez to disembark and with-out a moment's hesitation she climbed to the first station.

"I could dive long before I could swim," Jo told Tubby nervously. "But she certainly has nerve to go into that depth with those breeches and boots on."

THERE were some anxious moments while Montez stood like the little soldier she was, and Drann looked for position in the boat. It was difficult

GIANTS' WEAK SPOTS WORRY PILOT TERRY

Braves, Only Club They've Beaten Consistently

By ORLO ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Failure of the New York Giants to cash in against the supposedly weak teams is causing Manager Bill Terry no end of worry.

In contrast to 1933, when they trampled on the second division clubs in their parade to the championship, the National League leaders are taking the hard way in their battle for this year's pennant.

Against the first division teams—the Cubs, Cardinals, and Pirates—they have performed a great ball club, winning 27 and losing 15. But against the second division outfits, the Boston Braves excepted, they have displayed far from championship caliber. Twenty-one of their 36 setbacks have been at the hands of the Dodgers, Reds, Phillies and Braves.

Only against the lowly Braves have they won consistently, taking 13 of 15 encounters. The Dodgers have taken six out of 16 meetings, the Reds six of 14 games, and the Phillies have broken even in 14 contests.

The Phillies drew up on even terms yesterday by taking the measure of the Giants' mound ace—Hal Schumacher and Carl Hubbell. They whipped Schumacher 7 to 4, routing him in the fourth, and trimmed Hubbell, 6 to 3. The threatening Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 9 to 5.

As the result, the league leaders faced the Phillies again today holding only a two-game advantage over the Cubs and a three and one-half game margin over the Cardinals, who were idle yesterday.

Bordens Forfeit Contest To Brown Ten; Eichlers Win

Bordens ten forfeited a game to the Buster Browns last night. In another contest the league-leading Eichlers' Clothiers triumphed over the D-X Oils 1 to 0 and strengthened their hold on first place.

In the game, both teams were limited to three hits. Although the Bordens could not gather enough players together for a regular game they played the Browns four innings in an exhibition.

Following are the present standings:

Eichlers	18	2	.900

of the Cubs' 14-hit attack. Tex Carleton hurled three-hit ball the last seven innings after relieving Bill Lee with the Bucs in front 4-0.

The Detroit Tigers widened their gap over the New York Yankees in the American League to five games by defeating the Chicago White Sox 5 to 2 while the New Yorkers were dropping a 9 to 6 decision to the Athletics.

The Yankee-Athletics contest marked the 1,600th successive game in which Lou Gehrig had played. He contributed his 18th homer of the year and 366th circuit drive since starting his string June 1, 1925, but the McCarthy men were unable to check a ninth inning rally, which netted the Athletics four runs.

The Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns split a doubleheader, the Indians winning the first 14 to 8 and the Browns the nightcap, 9 to 5.

NEW CAGE RULE PONDERED BY ALL COACHES

Creates Problem, Is Radical In its Change

By CRAIG RUBY
(University of Illinois Basketball Coach)

The new "three second rule" passed by the National Basketball committee is the most important change in the game since the ten second rule of several years ago. In fact, from the viewpoint of coaches and players, this new rule will change the game more than did the ten second rule.

This three second rule states that "a player may not remain in his free throw area, with or without the ball, for more than three seconds while the ball is in play and in possession or control of his team. The ball is in the control of a team when it is being passed from player to player of that team." Since a ball on the rim of a basket is not "in control of a team", a player may stay in the lane more than three seconds while rebounding.

The penalty for the violation of this rule is the loss of the ball to the opponents out-of-bounds.

How To Alter Style?
The problem before coaches is how to alter their style of attack to conform to the rule. Moreover, if opponents develop new schemes of offense, then the defensive plans must be changed also.

We experimented in the basketball class in the Illinois Coaching school and will do more experimenting in the Camp Quiver basketball school in August. From the experiments to date I believe one of the following changes will come about:

First. The pivot player may take a position outside the lane, step forward to receive the ball and then feed or shoot. Under the old rules the pivot player stationed himself directly in front of the basket where he could receive the ball at all times and then could turn in either direction equally well for a shot. Under the new rule the pivot player from the position at the side of the lane is more easily guarded, must time his opening to receive the ball, and can turn in most cases in only one direction. Most pivot men will not be able to perform all of these maneuvers well and the attack of their teams as a result will bog down. But the pivot player who can perform all the requirements of the position well will be of greater value than before.

Many Employ Pivot
Second. Coaches who have on their squads a large center and a large forward may employ the double pivot attack. This may be done by placing one man on each side of the lane, each man operating as the single pivot of recent years. But this scheme leaves only three players to maneuver the ball and get it in to the pivot men and at the same time the double pivot congests the area in front of the basket where excellent guards may stop many plays. Furthermore, the defense against this attack becomes quite simple and very effective unless the double pivot is played just right.

Third. Some teams have never used the pivot type of offense but have played their forwards at the sidelines even with the free throw line, playing the center and the guards out in front. The object of such an attack is to keep the area open in front of the basket into which players may dart, receive the ball and score. This attack is a great one for a quick fast team which can hit 30 foot shots with accuracy.

Fourth. The limitation of the play of the pivot player may encourage some coaches to turn to zone defense because the great weakness of most zones is located in the free throw area. Most teams will not be able to pass through a zone defense as successfully under this new rule as they did under the old one.

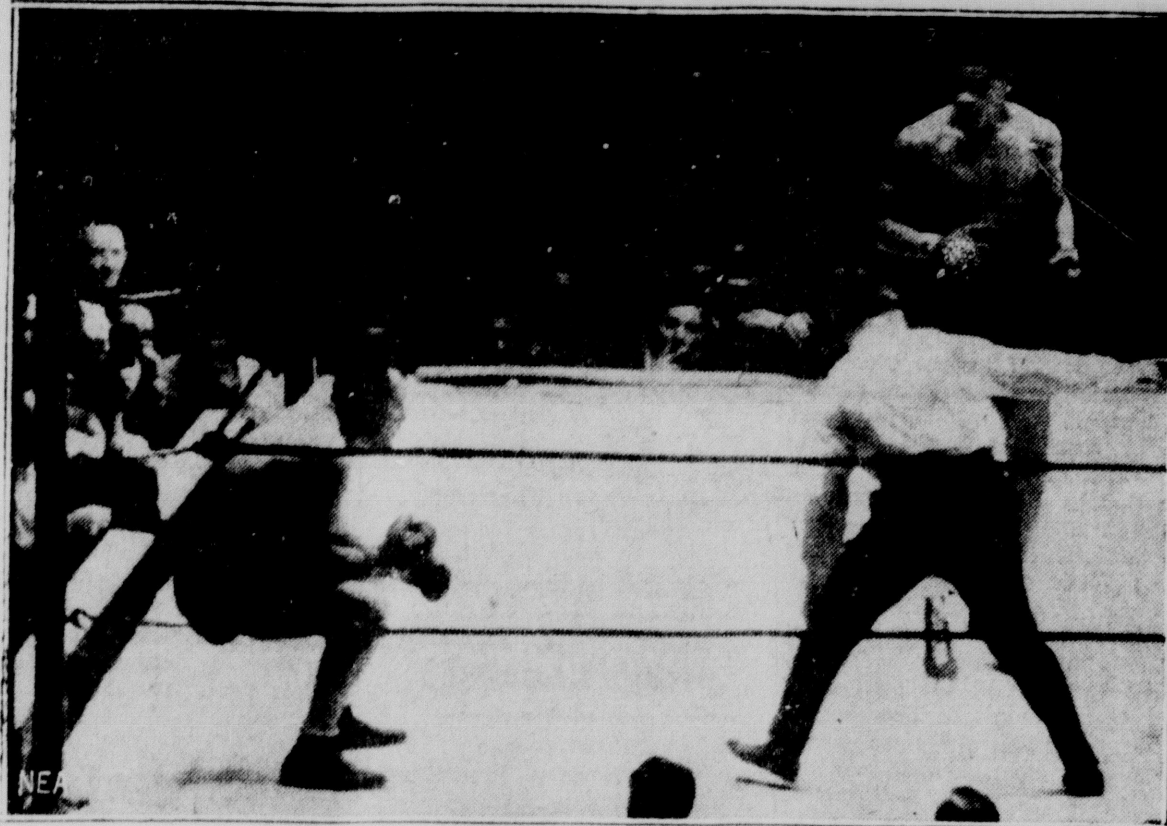

This new three second rule will make the next basketball season very interesting from the tactical point of view. More alteration of systems than ever before will occur as the season progresses. The basketball coaches have some real problems ahead of them.

Chicago "U" Alumni To Fete Stag on His 73rd Birthday

Chicago, Aug. 9—(AP)—University of Chicago alumni and winners of the varsity "C" will throw a big birthday party for their grand old man, Alonzo Stag, a week from today.

Coach Stag, now at the College of the Pacific, will be 73 years old August 16.

Coach at Sterling High Shoots Birdie at Golf

Coach Hugh Whaley of Sterling High is walking around with his chest expanded several inches Wednesday afternoon while shooting a round of golf at the Twin City country club he made an eagle on the No. 3 hole, which is 520 yards, the longest hole on the course. The hole is par five. Coach Whaley had two good drives and on his 50-yard approach shot the ball dropped into the cup. This is the first of one of very few times that this hole has been made in three.

Stunkle Boys To Entertain Fans With Their Skill

The Stunkle boys, both of them fast and clever fighters, are again paired with strong foes tonight at the Airport as part of a boxing card of seven bouts beginning at 8:30 P. M.

Maurice Stunkle will mix gloves with Earl Underwood of Chillicothe. Underwood is a newcomer here and fans will be interested in seeing whether or not Stunkle can tuck him away as handily as he kayoed Bill Doty of Savanna a fortnight ago. His brother Vernon, who won over Pete Vozikis of Moline by a technical knockout will meet Vic Fitzpatrick of Savanna.

Other good fights tonight pair Preston Laurette against Russell Ringenberger in the feature bout of the evening. Laurette is district Golden Gloves winner at Streator and Ringenberger is considered an A No. 1 boxer in his class in Illinois. Linto Guerrieri of Cherry faces Max Gayford of Savanna. Ernest Wilson of Marseilles meets Edie Martinis of Spring Valley. Dixie Caudie of DeKalb will tackle Chuck Barney of Cherry, and Richard Virgil of Mendota takes on vengeful Bill Doty of Savanna.

BAER IS CALLED MADE-TO-ORDER FOR JOE LOUIS

Detroit Negro Could Demand Braddock Fight By Victory

New York, Aug. 9—(AP)—There no longer can be the faintest doubt in the minds of the fight followers that Joe Louis "has it," meaning that he has the punch and the all-around ring qualifications to become the next world's heavyweight champion—if and when he gets the chance.

Solely on his records, the Brown Bomber is an absolute standout in the heavyweight ranks. He is the hardest hitter since Jack Dempsey and apparently a better finisher.

If Louis disposes of Max Baer in a match virtually certain to take place at New York's Polo Grounds on Sept. 26, there will remain not the slightest question as to the logical challenger for the crown plucked from Baer's erratic locks by James J. Braddock.

Just how, when and where Braddock and Louis might be brought together for the first mixed title fight since Jess Willard knocked out Jack Johnson at Havana 20 years ago remains a subject for the ballyhoo birds to warble about.

Braddock is under contract to Madison Square Garden. Louis is tied up with the Mike Jacobs-20th Century-Milk fund combination.

The consensus among fight experts is that Louis will beat Baer decisively, whether or not the Californian regains something approaching the form that carried him to the top. The feeling is that Baer, a rugged but wild swinger at best, is made to order for the Brown Bomber's short range fire.

According to Professor Brigham, psychologist, the 15 most frequently used words in the English language are: in, and, a, that, the, to, with, be, of, as, all, at, not, for, and on. These words are said to comprise 25 per cent of all the words used in the average modern book.
